who will work collaboratively to reduce barriers to compassionate, person-centered care. But today, lack of faith in societal institutions and leaders is fueling distrust, polarization and dissatisfaction.

Join us for a free webinar on May 12, 2023, from 3:00-4:00 PM ET to hear Ron Carucci, leadership and organizational change consultant, describe his 15 years of research into what makes leaders trustworthy, conducted with a variety of organizations and businesses. He'll share an expanded concept of honesty and why leaders must lead with the power of truth, justice and purpose to be trusted.

The past few years have brought new urgency to supporting the well-being of the healthcare workforce so that they can provide compassionate care to patients and families. We know that healthcare workers are facing ongoing challenges, from staffing shortages to workplace violence to burnout and more. With nearly three decades of experience supporting, educating and training hundreds of thousands of professional caregivers, we are uniquely positioned to meet the evolving needs of our healthcare community.

This is why the work of the Schwartz Center is more important now than ever.

Visit our Annual Report site to learn more about our progress over the past year and our plans for the future. Thank you for being a part of the Schwartz Center community.
